

Smithsonian Institution

Smithsonian Institution Archives

Bailey - Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Utah, January 1889 - July 1889

Extracted on Apr-16-2024 01:06:40

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Smithsonian Institution Archives as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Smithsonian Institution Archives website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Smithsonian Institution Archives or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Smithsonian Institution Archives. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

Jan. 8. Took up traps, packed up & went down the river about 6 miles to end of a deep cañon & camped.

Set out traps & went down the cañon a ways. The prospect is not very good.

A very warm day.

Tamias common all along road.

" [[ditto for: Jan.]] 9. Horses went off & I hunted them till noon.

In P.M. hunted ducks but didn't get much.

Shot a swan but lost it.

Keays set traps & caught 2 Hesperomys.

Traded horses.

" [[ditto for: Jan.]] 10 Nothing in traps but Hesperomys & a Tamias.

Packed up & went back to St. George & then up the Santa Clara Creek & camped for the night near Santa Clara

[[end page]]

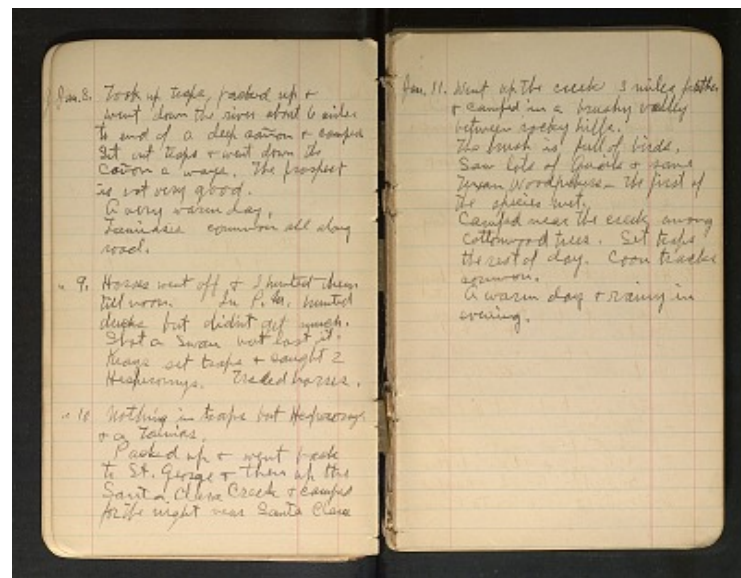

[[start page]]

Jan. 11. Went up the creek 3 miles farther & camped in a brushy valley between rocky hills.

The brush is full of birds. Saw lots of Quails & some Texan Woodpeckers - the first of the species met.

Camped near the creek among Cottonwood trees. Set traps the rest of day. Coon tracks common.

A warm day & rainy in evening.

Bailey - Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Utah, January 1889 - July 1889
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Apr-16-2024 01:06:40

Smithsonian Institution

Smithsonian Institution Archives

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian