

Jacques Seligmann & Co. records, General Correspondence: P. & D. Colnaghi & Co., Ltd., 1963-1977

Extracted on Apr-18-2024 07:52:46

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Archives of American Art as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Archives of American Art website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Archives of American Art or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Archives of American Art. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

Smithsonian Institution Transcription Center, Archives of American Art

[[preprinted]] P. & D. COLNAGHI & CO LTD (ESTABLISHED 1760)

TELEGRAMS: COLNAGHI, PICCY,LONDON. TELEPHONE:HYDE PARK 1943. DIRECTORS J.J.BYAM SHAW, M.A. R.Q.HENRIQUES R.M.D.THESIGER. A.H.DRIVER.

14 OLD BOND STREET, LONDON, W.1. [[/preprinted]]

24th December, 1963.

Mr. Germain Seligman, 5, East 57th Street, New York 22, N.Y., U.S.A

Dear Mr. Seligman,

I am so sorry not to have written for so long after my cable of about November 26th. I hope that in the meantime the four drawings from Madame Prost have arrived safely.

With regard to the Puget drawing which Mme. Prost has herself: I fear this is one that has not been in our hands since Sir Bruce Ingram died, and I have no clear recollection of it. There were, however, 4 other drawings by or attributed to Puget: one of these is the large [[underline]] Study for the decoration of a Man o'War [[/underline]] which has now gone to the Metropolitan Museum; another is a [[underline]] Naval Battle [[/underline]] (signed) which has now gone to the British Museum; the other two are [[underline]] Studies of Mediterranean Galleys [[/underline]] - they are certainly of Puget's time, but I do not feel I know him well enough to say whether they are really by his hand, though Sir Bruce himself seemed convinced of it. If this is the sort of thing which might still interest you I can of course get photographs made.

With regard to the Guardis at Sothebys: I am sure you would not have thought these a very good speculation if you had seen them. They were very badly damaged, and in spite of what Muraro said in his article in the Burlington Magazine they were quite obviously by the same hand as the set that now belongs to Geoffrey Merton. They were all bought-in at very low prices (between £3,000 and £8,000 a piece) and though this was certainly cheap enough, the state was such that to buy them would have been something of a speculation. In any case Merton has spoiled the market for these by offering his to the National Gallery, and elsewhere, at such a fantastic price, and my impression is that the possible buyers have now become bored with the whole affair. I agree with you in thinking No.50 the best of the three

P.& D.Colnaghi & Cº LP

(Bertantinewers (1965)

Internet: Constant, Prove Lowest Telepison: HYPER FARE 1846. District All Prove Sone S.A. Barton K.B.DTanana.

> Mr. Germain Seligman, 5, East 57th Street, New York 22, N.Y., U.S.A.

Dear Mr. Seligman,

I am so sorry not to have written for so long after my cable of about November 26th. I hope that in the meantime the four drawings from Madame Prost have arrived safely.

With regard to the Puget drawing which Mms. Prost has herself: I fear this is one that has not been in our hands since Sir Bruce Ingram died, and I have no clear recollection of it. There were, however, other drawings by or attributed to Puget: one of these is the large Study for the decoration of a Man o'War which has now gone to the Metropolitan Museum; another is a Naval Battle (signed) which has now gone to the British Museum; the other two are Studies of Mediterranean Galleys - they are certainly of Puget's time, but I do not feel I know tim well escuph to asy whether they are really by his hand, though Sir Bruce himself seemed convinced of it. If this is the sort of thing which might still interest you I can of course get pholographs made.

With regard to the Guardia at Sothebys: 1 am sure you would not have thought these a very good speculation if you had seen them. They were very badly damaged, and in spite of what Muraro axid in his article in the Burtington Magazine they were quite obviously by the same hand as the set that now belongs to Geoffrey Merion. They were all bought-is at very low prices (between 5,000 and 56,000 a piece) and though this was certainly cheap enough,the state was such that to buy them would have been something of a speculation. In any case Merion has spoiled the market for these by offering his to the National Gallery, and elsewhere, at such a fantastic price, and my impression is that the possible buyers have now become bored with the whele affair. I agree with you in thinking No.50 the best of the three

14 OLD BOND STREET, LONDON, W.L.

24th December, 1963.

Smithsonian Institution Transcription Center, Archives of American Art

Jacques Seligmann & Co. records, General Correspondence: P. & D. Colnaghi & Co., Ltd., 1963-1977 Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers Extracted Apr-18-2024 07:52:46

Smithsonian Institution Archives of American Art

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities.Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us! The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian On Twitter: @smithsonian