[[inter]]ested in Botany. The weather here is very wet. It rains nearly all the time, seldom more than one fine day in ten. It is a good dredging ground and there are many birds in spring - also a good many nice plants & land snails. I think not many fish, but a great variety of forms of crustaceans. All the vices of a civilized community are crowded in to this backwoods post. Licentiousness, gambling, drinking, are carried much farther in proportion than in San Francisco, even. I hear good accounts of Maynard, & Rothrock. I hope to work on the Californian coast next winter, & will write you at length about it as soon as I get back to Frisco. Dr Tomy knows the plans - I hope I take no liberty in writing this freely to you.

Respectfully yours
Wm H. Dall.
