My Dear Prof. Baird,

I've put off my writing a little too long and now am in a hurry.

I and my party are all well and jolly. Will try hard to get some good things on the transit. Meantime I've exercised the [[covennant? or cormorant?]] like propensity learned at the Smithsonian and believe I have already picked up two collections

[[/strikethrough]] am on the transit I've not yet seen. - the other is a passenger going to San Jose - or the country back of there where his brother is a coffee planter - for his health.

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
