February 17th., 1944.

Dear Boris:

It is ages since I have had the pleasure of seeing you and I am wondering what has become of you! I do hope that your silence is not due to ill health, and please give me a ring when you receive these lines so that we can get together.

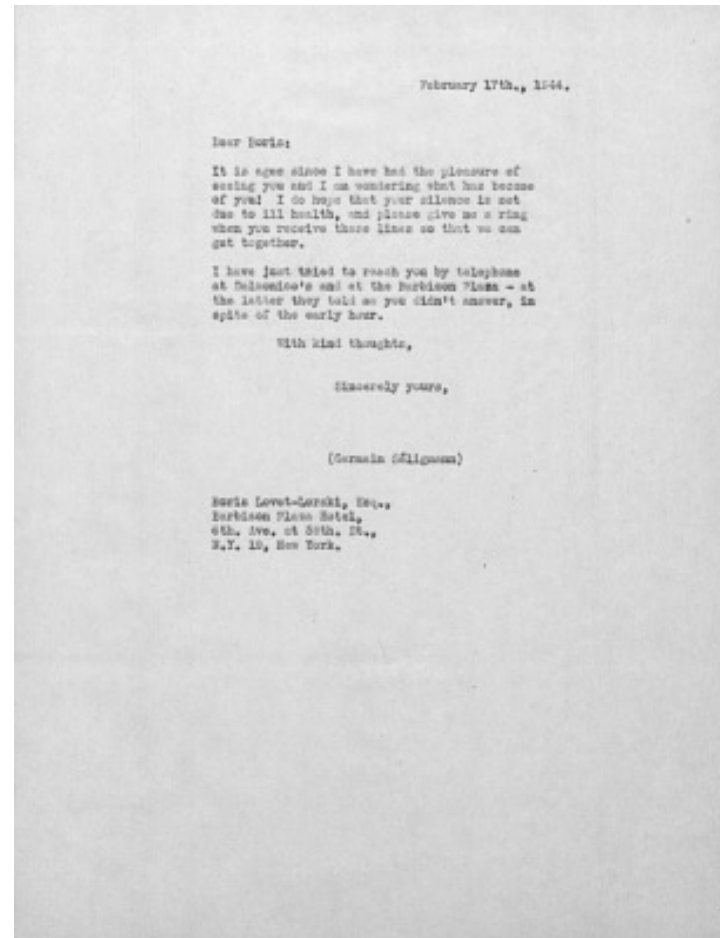

I have just tried to reach you by telephone at Delmonico's and at the Barbizon Plaza - at the latter they told me you didn't answer, in spite of the early hour.

With kind thoughts,

Sincerely yours,

(Germain Séligmann)

Boris Lovet-Lorski, Esq.,

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
