Smithsonian Institution
Archives of American Art

Diaries: Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney's Journal, Vol. II, 1890 September-December

Extracted on Mar-28-2024 02:37:07

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Archives of American Art as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Archives of American Art website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Archives of American Art or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Archives of American Art. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

148

Dec. 5th 1890. Friday.

I was right no school again and nothing to do all the afternoon but study my lessons for Monday.

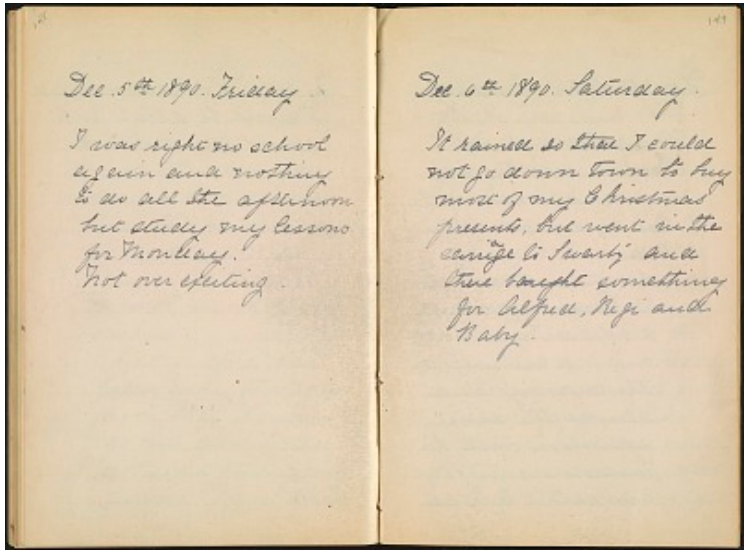

Not over exciting.

[[end page]]
[[start page]]

147

Dec. 6th 1890. Saturday.

It rained so that I could not go down town to buy most of my Christmas presents, but went in the carriage to Swartz and there bought something for Alfred, Regi and Baby.

Dec. 5th 1890. Friday.

I was right no school again and nothing to do all the afternoon but study my lessons for Monday.

Not over exciting.

Dec. 6th 1890. Saturday.

It rained so that I could not go down town to buy most of my Christmas presents, but went in the carriage to Swartz and there bought something for Alfred, Regi and Baby.

Diaries: Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney's Journal, Vol. II, 1890 September-December
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Approved by Smithsonian Staff
Extracted Mar-28-2024 02:37:07

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities.Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!
The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter
On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian
Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian
On Twitter: @smithsonian