but the preparation of food scientifically considered -- or, if I may so express the thought, cooking as applied Science.

I have just now (Jan'y 24th) closed a course of six lectures at the Franklin Institute on "Chemistry as applied in the Household" -- The two in which, "Fermentations & Bread-Making" and "The Chemistry of Cooking" were respectively the topics, intense interest was manifested.

As regards a person to treat the subject -- would not Miss Juliet Carson of New York be a good person to invite. If not she ~~e~~ -- the best one in Phila. -- would be out delightful Mrs Turner, Pres. of the New Century Club.

When are you coming to Phila! I desire exceedingly to hear your lectures on ancient America and trust

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
