A photograph of a handwritten manuscript page. The text is written in cursive on aged, slightly discolored paper. The handwriting is somewhat slanted and fluid. There are some corrections and additions visible, such as "clam shells, lobsters in a circle" written above "of a" in the first paragraph. The page contains two paragraphs of text, with the second paragraph starting with "On the south side". The ink is dark, possibly brown or black, and the paper shows some texture and minor staining.

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
