Smithsonian Institution
National Museum of African American History and Culture

Playbill for Doctor Jazz

Extracted on Mar-28-2024 05:23:36

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the National Museum of African American History and Culture as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the National Museum of African American History and Culture website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact National Museum of African American History and Culture or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the National Museum of African American History and Culture. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

[[2 page advertisement]]
Invite America's greatest theater companies into your living room.

[[image - drawing of a couple standing outside their front door. The side walk is lined with a television crew complete with cameras, lights, props and costumes]]

This year, from all over the country, America's finest regional theater companies are coming to perform on a new and challenging stage. Your television set.

For a second season, Exxon brings you "Theater in America," a series of plays produced exclusively for television by WNET 13/New York, and hosted by Hal Holbrook.

"Theater in America" provides a unique showcase for some of America's finest companies and productions. This year, you'll see seventeen superb plays, including Chekhov's classic comedy-drama, The Seagull; Edmond Rostand's beloved classic Cyrano de Bergerac; Maxim Gorky's dramatic Enemies; and Forget Me Not Lane, an original work by Peter Nichols.

We at Exxon happily invite you to invite a great performance into your living room, starting now on your Public Broadcasting Service station.

Just dim the lights. Turn on your television set. And set the stage for "Theater in America."

THEATER IN AMERICA

On the PBS Network

[[image - EXXON logo]]
[[/advertisement]]

Playbill for Doctor Jazz
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Mar-28-2024 05:23:36

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of African American History and Culture

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities.Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!
The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter
On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian
Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian
On Twitter: @smithsonian