Dollars for This man --- Do You Know Him?

He is ambitious. He wants to get on in the world. He isn't satisfied just to make a living. He wants to feel that he can afford many little pleasure and comforts which his present income does not permit.

PROBABLY he is already employed and busy, though it doesn't matter whether he works in a store in an office or on a farm.

He may perhaps be a clerk, a printer or a salesman. While his present and past experience may help, it is not at all necessary, to insure his future success.

He may be a young fellow on the way up or an older man "facing sunsets"; it makes no difference so long as he has the desire to win, is careful about his appearance and gentlemanly in his manner.

If, in addition to these requirements, the man you have in mind can find an hour or so, daytime or evening, to represent the subscription interests of THE VOICE, you will be doing him a big favor by sending us his name.

Whether you write or send the coupon below, we will not mention your name - or does the picture just painted fit you? If so, you're lucky. Simply send the coupon.
