"Popping at the West End Waiters"

The club members of the popular West End Waiters' Club on Vandeventer and Fairfax, as, usual, was "jumping high" last Sunday night. Many celebrities were seen among the members enjoying the sweet dance music of Roosevelt Thomas and his West End Serenaders. Many others are seen taking on a few "nips" between dances specially prepared by the mixmasters Carl Tennon and John Easley. The proprietors Bob Laseus and Tom Brown welcome you at all times to the "elite dancery of St. Louis," the West End Waiters' Club.

The Mix Cameraman caught the "jitters" doing their daily dozens at Dad's Corner on his visit in Kirkwood last week. Many St. Louisians, including the ever-popular Sam Gholston who were among the many other "downtown" celebrities that were making "whoopie." If you're in doubt of finding DAD'S CORNER, follow this route: take Clayton Road to Big Bend, turn left on Big Bend to Kirkwood, follow Route 66 over the tracks to Brooklyn Ave., turn left two blocks... Dad's Corner.
