November 14th, 1940.

Dear Tommie:

Just a brief line to let you know that we have moved from our old "palazzo" on 51st Street to new premises, as per the address.

Concurrent with our opening, we are showing an important group of 20th Century Masters, and it would therefore give me great pleasure to welcome you in our new surroundings the next time you come to New York.

I do hope that you will find time to drop in for a few minutes, and let me show you a few new things.

Looking forward to the pleasure of seeing you in the near future,

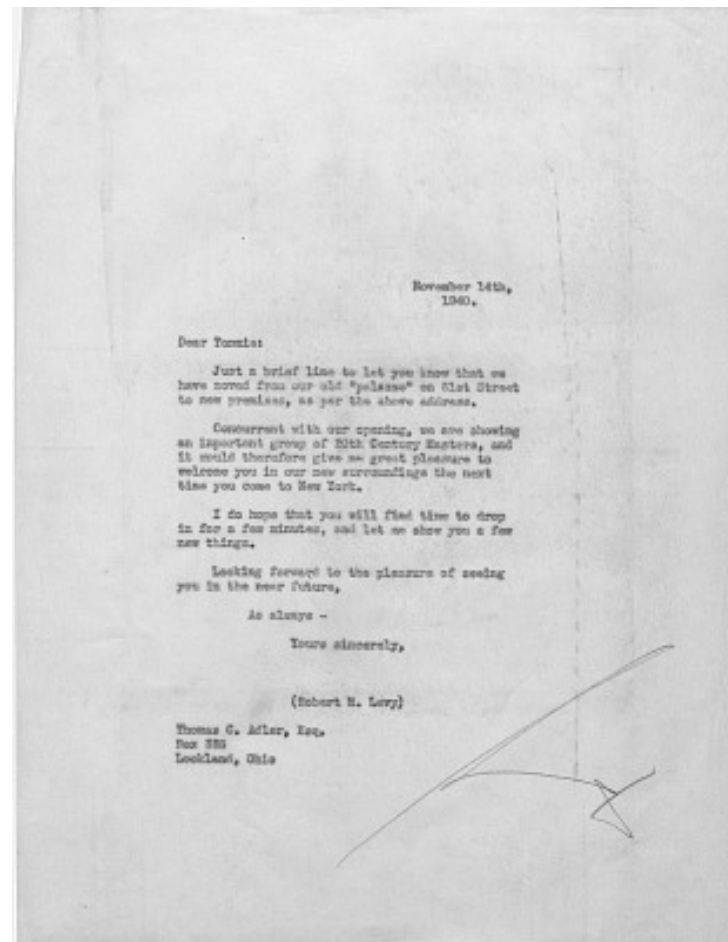

As always -

Yours sincerely,

(Robert M. Levy)

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
