OIC - BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE IN THE WORDS OF REV. LEON H. SULLIVAN

TO 2000 CONVOCATION DELEGATES

- "... Go back to your 200 communities and help the OIC programs across the nation to help build America."
- "... What the nation has to come up with is a workable plan, tied to training, that can pull all the unemployed who want to work in a job, and at the same time, deal with great national needs. It appears to me this is the time to work at doing something with our cities and our poverty rural areas."
- "... It seems this is the time to look towards rebuilding the bombed out cities of this nation that have been bombed out by poverty and segregation and neglect, and to train our unemployed and our poor to eliminate the ghettos and the slums of America."
- "... I believe this is the time for the President, the Congress, and America to set in motion a plan and a program to get rid of our American slums and to get rid of the deprivation, and to get rid of the blight in rural America."
- "... Let us return to our homes emphasizing self reliance. The only real answer to the energy. crisis in America today is self reliance. We must discipline ourselves to self reliance until there are better times."

- ". . . Go back home and tell all the people, there is a way. People will be trained, jobs will be found, ghettos will be rebuilt, rural areas will be revived, and remember, let the people know, THE MORNING COMETH!"

Twelfth Annual Convocation, Aug. 29-Sept. 1, 1976 - Sheraton Hotel, Philadelphia, Penna. Theme: OIC, Light of Hope for America

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
