

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of African American History and Culture

Delegate Magazine 1983

Extracted on Apr-19-2024 09:25:39

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the National Museum of African American History and Culture as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the National Museum of African American History and Culture website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact National Museum of African American History and Culture or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the National Museum of African American History and Culture. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

Present Check for $8,000 to American Cancer Society

While more than 2,500 members of the Daughters of Isis applauded at the recent convention in Denver, Colorado, Imperial Commandress Mrs. Dorothy M. Jenkins-Scott presented a check for $8,000 to a representative of the American Cancer Society for "cancer control work among black Americans."

Mrs. Alice Davis of Washington, D.C. in accepting the donation noted that as a long time volunteer in health affairs, "I know from experience that our priorities are very often the most basic needs — food, clothing, and housing. So I know that getting across the importance of cancer education takes motivation, time, patience, and money. Thus the Daughters of Isis are to be commended for their pioneering efforts." The organization is the Auxiliary to the Shriners (AEOONMS).

During her two year tenure, Mrs. Jenkins-Scott of Detroit, Michigan, had chosen as the theme of her Charity Project, "Caring and Sharing" with the motto "Uphold One Another." She added to her Imperial Court a new department which focused on aiding the cooperating with the Society and the American Lung Association. Mrs. Gloria J. Ramsey of High Point N.C. was appointed Imperial Directress to carry out the programs.

In September of 1981, the ACS Department of Public Education and the Daughters of Isis, initiated a nationwide cancer education program. Still ongoing, it emphasizes the life saving importance of early detection and its key targets being breast, uterine, and colorectal cancer.

At the convention, Mrs. Rose Stanback, member of the ACS Advisory Committee on Cancer in Minorities reported on progress in this area since the 1979 Conference on Meeting the Challenge of Cancer Among Black Americans. Among other things she said the ACS minority professionals had increased from 38 to 154 nationwide; a national survey of black American attitudes toward cancer had been commissioned and conducted by a black owned polling firm, new print and audio-visual educational materials have been produced; and several other programs initiated with black American and Hispanic organizations.

A new program of cooperation with the Daughters of Isis and the ACS was also announced at the Denver meeting by Dr. Diane J. Fink, Vice President of the Society's Department of Service and Rehabilitation. This will involve such programs as Reach-to-Recovery for women who've had breast cancer surgery and services such as transportation for cancer patients to and from treatment centers, etc.

The new Imperial Commandress, Mrs. Idee W. Dodson of Oklahoma City, Okla. has been an ACS volunteer for several years. She said that "Yes, I intend to continue our cooperation with both the Society and the Lung Association.

Mrs. Ramsey who was elected the Imperial Court Divan in Denver will continue to coordinate the programs.

[[image]]

[[caption]] At their recent convention in Denver, Colorado, Imperial Commandress of Daughters of Isis, Auxiliary to the Shriners

Present Check for $8,000 to American Cancer Society

While more than 2,500 members of the Daughters of Isis applauded at the recent convention in Denver, Colorado, Imperial Commandress Mrs. Dorothy M. Jenkins-Scott presented a check for $8,000 to a representative of the American Cancer Society for "cancer control work among black Americans."

Mrs. Alice Davis of Washington, D.C. in accepting the donation noted that as a long time volunteer in health affairs, "I know from experience that our priorities are very often the most basic needs — food, clothing, and housing. So I know that getting across the importance of cancer education takes motivation, time, patience, and money. Thus the Daughters of Isis are to be commended for their pioneering efforts." The organization is the Auxiliary to the Shriners (AEOONMS).

During her two year tenure, Mrs. Jenkins-Scott of Detroit, Michigan, had chosen as the theme of her Charity Project, "Caring and Sharing" with the motto "Uphold One Another." She added to her Imperial Court a new department which focused on aiding the cooperating with the Society and the American Lung Association. Mrs. Gloria J. Ramsey of High Point N.C. was appointed Imperial Directress to carry out the programs.

In September of 1981, the ACS Department of Public Education and the Daughters of Isis, initiated a nationwide cancer education program. Still ongoing, it emphasizes the life saving importance of early detection and its key targets being breast, uterine, and colorectal cancer.

At the convention, Mrs. Rose Stanback, member of the ACS Advisory Committee on Cancer in Minorities reported on progress in this area since the 1979 Conference on Meeting the Challenge of Cancer Among Black Americans. Among other things she said the ACS minority professionals had increased from 38 to 154 nationwide; a national survey of black American attitudes toward cancer had been commissioned and conducted by a black owned polling firm, new print and audio-visual educational materials have been produced; and several other programs initiated with black American and Hispanic organizations.

A new program of cooperation with the Daughters of Isis and the ACS was also announced at the Denver meeting by Dr. Diane J. Fink, Vice President of the Society's Department of Service and Rehabilitation.

partment of Service and Rehabilitation. This will involve such programs as Reach-to-Recovery for women who've had breast cancer surgery and services such as transportation for cancer patients to and from treatment centers, etc.

The new Imperial Commandress, Mrs. Idee W. Dodson of Oklahoma

City, Okla. has been an ACS volunteer for several years. She said that "Yes, I intend to continue our cooperation with both the Society and the Lung Association."

Mrs. Ramsey who was elected the Imperial Court Divan in Denver will continue to coordinate the programs.

At their recent convention in Denver, Colorado, Imperial Commandress of Daughters of Isis, Auxiliary to the Shriners (AEOONMS), Mrs. Dorothy M. Jenkins-Scott presents check for $8,000 to Mrs. Alice Davis, member of the American Cancer Society, for cancer control work among black Americans.

Officials of the Daughters of Isis, Auxiliary to the Shriners (AEOONMS), representatives of the American Cancer Society at the Society's recent convention in Denver, Colorado, after ceremony in which the Daughters presented the ACS with $8,000 for cancer control work among black Americans. Left to right are Mrs. Rose B. Stanback, Deputy Imperial Directress, Department of Cancer and Lung Disease; Mrs. Gloria J. Ramsey, Imperial Directress; Mrs. Rose Stanback, Member ACS National Advisory Committee on Cancer in Minorities; Mrs. Alice Davis, Executive Assistant to the ACS Senior Vice President for Medical Affairs; Mrs. Dorothy Jenkins-Scott, Imperial Commandress; and Mrs. Idee W. Dodson, Member ACS Advisory Committee.

(AEAONMS), Mrs. Dorothy Jenkin-Scott (right) presents check for $8,000 to Mrs. Alice Davis representing the American Cancer Society, for cancer control work among black Americans. [[/caption]]

[[image]]

[[caption]] Officials of the Daughters of Isis, Auxiliary of the Shriners (AEAONMS), representatives of the American Cancer Society at the Order's recent convention in Denver, Colorado, after ceremony in which the Daughters presented the ACS with $8,000 for cancer control work among black Americans. Left to right are Mrs. Betty B. Parham, Deputy Imperial Directress, Department Cancer and Lung Disease; Mrs. Gloria J. Ramsey, Imperial Directress, Mrs. Rosa Stanback, Member ACS National Advisory Committee on Cancer in Minorities; Mrs. Agnes Dixon, Executive Assistant to the ACS Senior Vice President for Medical Affairs; Mrs. Dorothy Jenkins Scott, Imperial Commandress; and Mrs. Alice Davis, Member ACS Advisory Committee. [[/caption]]

203

Delegate Magazine 1983
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Apr-19-2024 09:25:39

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of African American History and Culture

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian