A black and white photograph of a handwritten note on a piece of paper. The text is written in cursive and matches the typed transcription on the left. The note is slightly tilted and has some ink bleed-through from the reverse side. The handwriting is fluid and somewhat informal. The paper appears to be a standard weight with some texture visible.

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
