Dear Mrs. Junkin:

I, of course enjoyed your pleasant letter. You must be quite a "gal". I am terribly sorry that we have no show in the shop where your material can be used.

I showed your letter to our script editor in the hope that he might know of something. I only have one idea in mind and that is the "We The People" television show. Why don't you write to Dan Seymour at Young & Rubicam, Inc. and tell him your story.

I would think that you could fit that program very nicely and might make some contacts with those who see you.

Kindest personal regards,

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
