Harold E. Morehouse Flying Pioneers Biographies Collection - Atwater, William B.

Extracted on Apr-17-2024 08:25:10

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum Archives as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum Archives website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum Archives or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum Archives. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

FROM THE FLYING PIONEERS BIOGRAPHIES OF HAROLD E. MOREHOUSE

Curtiss School through December, 1911, receiving instruction from Curtiss and T. B. McClasky. In the same class were: Albert Mayo, J. B. McCalley, William Hoff, W. H. Fisher, Charles Shoemaker and S. C. Lewis. Atwater took up flying purely for the sport of it and soon Mrs. Atwater became such an ardent enthusiast that she, too, took some lessons before he had completed his course. Soon the Atwaters were thoroughly enjoying themselves flying about Coronado and San Diego Harbor, and as 1911 ended they purchased two Curtiss Hydros and became real aviation fans. Their purchase was the first recorded instance of hydro aeroplanes hold for private sport flying.

In January, 1912 they attended the Los Angeles meet at Dominguez Field, where Atwater did some flying for the Curtiss Company, starting January 20th. He was not a formal contestant but contributed to the flying entertainment of the event. The Atwaters remained in California and continued to fly actively both at Los Angeles and San Diego. On February 21st he obtained pilot license No. 98 at Los Angeles on a Curtiss Hydro. February 26th he established a new American speed record of 73.08 M.P.H. flying a Curtiss Biplane with 75 H.P. engine, at San Diego over a measured course. On March 12th Atwater flew to the aid of Ensign V. D. Herbster who had crashed in the bay off North Island. He flew to the wreckage in his Hydro and after taking Herbster aboard returned him to the base.

About this time the Atwaters decided to go on a trip to the Far East, making exhibitions and demonstrating flights at points in the interests of the Curtiss Company. They left San Francisco on April 5th bound for the Orient with their Curtiss Hydros. They were established in Japan about May 1st, and on the 11th Atwater have his first exhibitions before an immense crowd at Tokyo. He made three flights that day, the first hydro flying ever seen in the Orient. Prince Kwacho of the Imperial Family, Admiral Saito, Minister of the Imperial Navy, Vice-Admiral Vryu and many military officers also witnessed the flights. On June 1st he carried letters from the mayor of Tokyo to the mayor of Yokohama. Mr. and Mrs. Atwater remained in Japan though July and received great acclaim.

2

Cartine School through Posseber, 1911, reserving instruction from trains and
T. B. McClesky. In the same class were albert Rays, J. B. McCalley, Silling Soff, S. B. Fisher, Charles Shoemsker and S. C. levis. Atmeter took up flying purely for the sport of it and soon Rrs. Atmeter became such as ardest enthusiact that she, too, took come leasues before he had completed his course. Seen the Atmeters were thoroughly enjoying themselves flying short Goronaco and Sam Dingo Barbor, and as 1911 ended they purchased two Cartine Spiros and became real arisation farm. Their purchase was the first recorded instance of hydro seroplanes sold for private sport flying.

In Jamery, 1912 they attended the Los Angeles seet at Sociences Field, where strater did some flying for the Carties Company, starting Jamery 20th. He was not a formal contentant but contributed to the flying entertainment of the event. The Alesters remained in California and continued to fly actively both at los Angeles and San Diego. On Fobruary 21st be obtained pilot license No. 96 at los Angeles on a Carties types. Fatruary 25th he established a new Assertions speed record of 73,00 M.F.E. flying a Carties Biplane with 75 E.F. engine, at San Diego over a measured source. On March 12th Atenter flew to the aid of Energy V. D. Harbeter who had crashed in the bay aff North Leland. He flow to the wrestings in his Spire and after taking Marbeter should returned him to the base.

About this time the Atsaters decided to go on a trip to the For Heat, micing exhibitions and descentrating flights at points in the interests of the Certime Company. They left Fan Francisco on April 5th bound for the Orient with their Certims Sydros. They more established in Japan shout May let, and on the lith Atsater gave his first exhibitions before an issuesse around at Tokyo. He made three flights that day, the first hydro flying over seen in the Orient. Prince Franko of the Imperial Panily, Admiral Sajto, Minister of the Imperial Navy, Nice-Maniral Trys and many military officers also mitnessed the flights. On June lat he sarried letters from the mayor of Tokyo to the sayer of Tokyohama. Nr. and Nrs. Atsater resolved in Japan through July and received great scalais.

Harold E. Morehouse Flying Pioneers Biographies Collection - Atwater, William B.
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Apr-17-2024 08:25:10

Smithsonian Institution

Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum Archives

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian

On Twitter: @smithsonian