farm, and there through the next few years reportedly raised beef cattle and enjoyed inventing new farm machinery. Cessna passed away at his farm home on November 20, 1954 at age 75, alert and active almost to the last. He was survived by his wife and two children. Burial was beside his father in a cemetery near Belmont, Kansas, with an aerial tribute by a formation of six Kansas National Guard planes circling overhead. He was one of the founder members of the Early Birds and an active member of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. He held Pilot License No. 6200 granted him on January 29, 1925.

Flying Pioneer, Early Bird Clyde V. Cessna was truly one of the foremost aviation pioneers in the United States. Early plane designer and builder, self taught aviator, ~~plane designer and builder~~, a man of great vision and drive, he founded one of the largest and most successful aircraft companies in the world today. Always a steadfast ambassador of aviation and air travel, his contributions to the industry are legend. A perfect gentleman, known and loved everywhere, his was a life of determined struggle and hardships on the path to successful accomplishment.
