

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of the American Indian Archives Center

Grace F. Thorpe collection - Cyprus College: Jim Thorpe House Dedication Ceremony, 1977

Extracted on Apr-19-2024 12:28:26

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the National Museum of the American Indian Archives Center as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the National Museum of the American Indian Archives Center website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact National Museum of the American Indian Archives Center or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the National Museum of the American Indian Archives Center. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

Cypress College 9200 Valley View Cypress, CA 90620 826-2220, ext. 213, 214

Dr. Omar H. Scheidt, President

SPORTS RELEASE Feb. 18, 1977

Using a giant pair of wooden scissors, Grace Thorpe, daughter of the great Olympian Jim Thorpe, officially dedicated Cypress College's new $3 million gymnasium Friday Feb. 18, by cutting the ceremonial ribbon on the piazza of the building named after her father.

Surrounded by onlookers, the 55-year old youngest daughter of Jim Thorpe's first marriage, smiled and waved to a crowd of about 150 spectators who came to listen to her speech entitled, "My father, the Athlete and the Man," inside the multi-purpose room of the new Thorpe house.

Flanked by Cypress officials, special guests, and members of Thorpe House student government, Miss Thorpe painted a multi-colored picture of her father's life.

"Dad was a humble, quiet person," she told onlookers. I'm kind of noisy, but he had a lot of inner strength and intelligence. he had humor and he loved to tease me, but he could be strict when he needed to be."

Miss Thorpe, who, like her father spent most of her life on Indian reservations in Oklahoma, said her father could be as gentle as anyone she ever knew.

"He was baby sitting for me one time when I lived in a suburb of New York," she detailed, "and I left to go do some shopping. When I came back the kids and dad were roasting marshmallows over a gas stove. It was dripping all over. Now, I don't mind the kids toasting marshmallows over an open fire, but this was all over the stove.

"I said to him," she continued, "Dad. What are you doing?' And he replied, 'Aw, just leave the kids alone. We're just having a little fun!"

Cypress College 9200 Valley View Cypress, DA 9062D Paul McLood Sparts Information Director 826-2228, est. 213, 214

(ur. Dmar H. Schwidt, President SPORTS RELEASE Petr. 18, 1977

Using a giant pair of wooden scissors, firmes Thorpe, daughter of the strat dipupian Jim Thorpe, officially dedicated Cyprass College's new $3 million grasacian Friday Fab. 18, by outling the caramonial ribbon on the pierce of the bailding mamed after her father.

Surrounded by onlookers the SS-year old youngest daughter of Jim Thorpe's first marriage, smiled and waved to a crawd of about 150 spectators sho come To listes to her speech entitled, "My Father, the Athlete and the Man," inside the multi-purpose room of the new Therpy House.

Flanked by Cypress officists, special guests, and members of Therpe House student government, Miss Therpe painted a multi-colored picture of her father's life.

"pud was a humble, quiet person," she told colockers. I'm kind of nelsy, but he had a lot of inner strength and intelligence. He had humor and he loved to tossee me, but he could be strict when he needed to be."

Miss Thorpe, who, like her futher spent most of her life on Indian resurrations in Oklahoma, said her father could be as gantle as anyone she ever know.

"He was body sitting for me one time when I lived in a soburb of New York," she detailed, "and I laft to go do some shopping. When I came back the kids and dad were reasting marshnallows over a gas store. It was dripping all over. New, I don't mind the kids tousting marshnallows over an open fire, but this was all over the store.

"I said to him," she continued, "Lad. What are yes delug?" And he replied, "Aw, just large the kids along. Molve just having a little funt"

Grace F. Thorpe collection - Cyprus College: Jim Thorpe House Dedication Ceremony, 1977 Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers Extracted Apr-19-2024 12:28:26

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of the American Indian Archives Center

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities.Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us! The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian On Twitter: @smithsonian