Smithsonian Institution
Smithsonian Institution Archives

Doris Holmes Blake - Correspondence with Helena "Lena" G. Fowler, 1931-1932

Extracted on Mar-28-2024 06:49:50

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

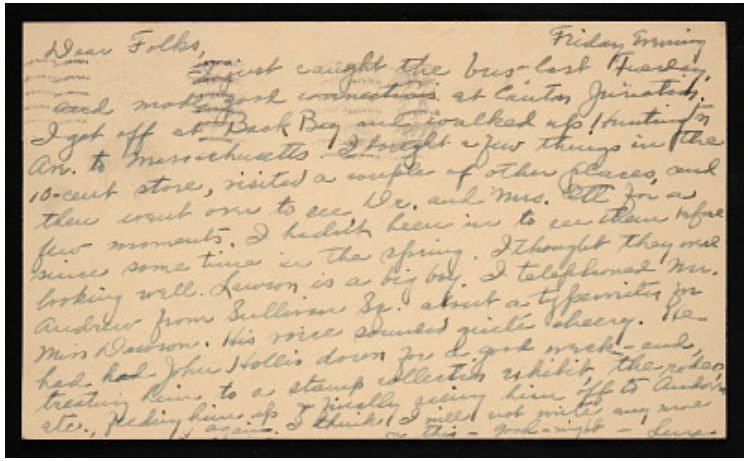

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Smithsonian Institution Archives as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Smithsonian Institution Archives website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Smithsonian Institution Archives or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Smithsonian Institution Archives. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

Friday Evening

Dear Folks,

I just caught the bus last Friday, and made good connections at Cauton Junction. I got off at Back Bay and walked up Huntington Ave. to Massachusetts. I bought a few things in the 10-cent store, visited a couple of other places, and then went over to see Dr. and Mrs. Ott for a few moments. I hadn't been in to see them before since some time in the spring. I thought they were looking well. Lawson is a big boy. I telephoned Mr. Andrew from [[Sullim?]] Sr. about a typewriter for Miss Dawson. His voice sounded quite cheery. He had had Johee Hollis down for a good week-end, treating him to a stamp collection [[?]], the rodeo [[ate?]]., feeding him up & finally seeing him off to [[Audor's]] again. I think I will not write any more on this- good-night - Lena

Doris Holmes Blake - Correspondence with Helena "Lena" G. Fowler, 1931-1932
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Mar-28-2024 06:49:50

Smithsonian Institution
Smithsonian Institution Archives

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities.Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!
The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter
On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian
Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian
On Twitter: @smithsonian