

Smithsonian Institution

Smithsonian Institution Archives

Doris Holmes Blake - Correspondence with Helena "Lena" G. Fowler, 1931-1932

Extracted on Apr-17-2024 11:47:08

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Smithsonian Institution Archives as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Smithsonian Institution Archives website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Smithsonian Institution Archives or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Smithsonian Institution Archives. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

yours in the picture with him where you too are smiling. They were all overexposed, I guess. I may learn how to use the camera sometime, but at present it is put away.

Leila came out last Saturday. She got here about twelve and stayed until about quarter of eight. She telephoned later to say she got home all right. It was a good thing she got back before the storm started. I had a stuffed fowl, baked potatoes, onions, squash, cranberry jelly, apple, and mince pie for dinner and in the after-noon we made and pulled some molasses candy, and she did some mending she brought with her too. She spoke of the time you were both in Wilmington and of how nice you were to call her on the telephone, and then come in to see her. She has kept a little three-room place up there to go to whenever she feels like it.

I am ever and ever so glad that you have Maud and Ralph and other good friends to help you out in these trying days. Could I help if I came out for a week or so or would my coming make things harder for you both?

The best of wishes to you both!

Love,
Lena.

Doris Holmes Blake - Correspondence with Helena "Lena" G. Fowler, 1931-1932

Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers

Extracted Apr-17-2024 11:47:08

Smithsonian Institution

Smithsonian Institution Archives

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian