Your letter of the 6th, containing enclosure of Eight Dollars, came duly to hand, and in reply, I would say, that I had the child said to be the child of Henry Waring, brought before me, accompanied by the woman Peggy, with whom she is staying. The child says that her mother's name was Grant and that she does not know Henry Waring, that before her Mother died she told her that her Father was dead. The woman, Peggy, says she never heard of Waring and that the child has been with her for more than a year, and has no food, bed and treatment. Under these circumstances I do not feel like sending the child away as it does not appear to my satisfaction that she is the child of Henry Waring I am

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
