Will follow as many of your suggestions as a memory, reinforced with copious notes, will allow. Naturally, you should have the say about what illustrations will go in. Would there be any point to my taking in a proof or copy of the Survey article? I am seeing them to-day about the possibility of some visual illumination which is not at all necessary. I like your sly dig at the Survey "introducing to the readers," etc/ Also the Nat.Geog.comment.

With many thanks from all three and 'specially-

Postal, re Moe-of-G, at hand.
Wish I could swap some of my loose-time for some of the over-employed hours you are putting in. I am trying to make hay, just the same.

Smithsonian Institution

Archives of American Art

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
