

Smithsonian Institution

Archives of American Art

Celebrating 175: Chiura Obata, Correspondence, University of California, Berkeley, 1941-1950

Extracted on Feb-06-2023 03:59:10

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Archives of American Art as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Archives of American Art website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Archives of American Art or transcribe@si.edu track of a privately owned machine, and apparently Mr. Villie, a colleague of Mr. Kodani's, has a machine which he is willing to surrender for a time. He promised to write to Mr. Kodani concerning delivery of the instrument.

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Archives of American Art. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

I should like to visit Tanforan, but this month seems out of the question. Just now I am nursing an unpleasant cold, but apart from that drafting of Dr. Cameron has left me with a great deal of routine work which must be attended to now. The late spring rains and other mishaps have greatly delayed our spring tobacco planting program. Later on this month I shall have to go to Salt Lake City for about a week to attend the summer meetings there. But if you find that precious morning glory seed, please send it to me. At least I can take care of it.

Please remember me to Mrs. Obata and to Kim and his wife, to Lily and to Izo. And let me say again how glad I am to hear of your activities. Things are not nearly so bad, if one has something to do.

Sincerely,

Roy Clausen

Celebrating 175: Chiura Obata, Correspondence, University of California, Berkeley, 1941-1950
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Feb-06-2023 03:59:10

Smithsonian Institution

Archives of American Art

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian