Herbert Gentry

American painter and graphic artist was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (1921-2003) attended New York University, 1940-42 and studied in Paris, 1946-49. Mr. Gentry was a visiting instructor at Montclair State College and Rutgers University during the 1980's. For many years he maintained residence in both New York City and Sweden. His experience as a bi-continental artist informed his work in such a way that investigations of the subconscious, rather than subject matter, take precedence in his often surreal paintings. His works are included in collections in New York, Stockholm, Chicago, Amsterdam and Paris to name a few. He exhibited in many individual and group exhibitions.

Richard Mayhew

Born in Amityville, New York in 1924 he studied at the Art Students League, Brooklyn Museum Art School and Columbia University in New York and the Pratt Institute. His career includes freelance medical illustrator and professional singer, instructor of art in several art schools both in New York and Massachusetts and a professor at Pennsylvania State University. He has exhibited in many individual and group exhibitions throughout the United States receiving many awards for his work. Mayhew's works are included in the collections of numerous colleges and museums.

Evangeline (EJ) Montgomery

Ms. Montgomery was born in New York in May of 1933. She was educated at Los Angeles City College, California State University, College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland
