

Smithsonian Institution

Archives of American Art

Celebrating 175: Correspondence, Steinberg, Saul, circa 1943-1962

Extracted on Mar-29-2023 09:22:58

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Archives of American Art as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Archives of American Art website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Archives of American Art or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Archives of American Art. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

I hope I'll lose the vice of competition (I used to be in competition even with you! I'll explain you more about it when together). I feel I grew up since you saw me last. Understand things better.

Today saw drunk talking to horse hitched at carriage in front of Central Park. Drunk told the horse long story, I watched him, couldn't hear. Passerby said to me - I guess the horse is the only one willing to listen to him -

Good night dear, I love you very dearly and sincerely,

Soon, darling.

I hope I'll lose the vice of competition (I used to be in competition even with you! I'll explain you more about it when together). I feel I grew up since you saw me last. Understand things better.

Today saw drunk talking to horse hitched at carriage in front of Central Park. Drunk told the horse long story, I watched him, couldn't hear. Passerby said to me - I guess the horse is the only one willing to listen to him -

Good night dear, I love you very dearly and sincerely,
Soon, darling.

Celebrating 175: Correspondence, Steinberg, Saul, circa 1943-1962
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Mar-29-2023 09:22:58

Smithsonian Institution

Archives of American Art

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian