organized. I could easily have a large place, a studio for myself but I can leave any day since 2 months ago almost.

The weather here is excellent even now in November. We have a small stove in the room. Shuman from The N. Yorker wrote me that they received so far my drawings and bought some. I'm glad of that. I made more drawings lately & I have something for you too.

A photograph of a handwritten letter on two pieces of paper. The top piece is a single sheet, and the bottom piece is a folded sheet. The handwriting is in cursive and matches the typed transcription on the left. The paper is off-white and shows some signs of age. The letter is set against a dark background.

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
