Smithsonian Institution
Archives of American Art

Celebrating 175: Correspondence, Steinberg, Saul, 1944 July-September

Extracted on Mar-29-2024 10:15:29

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

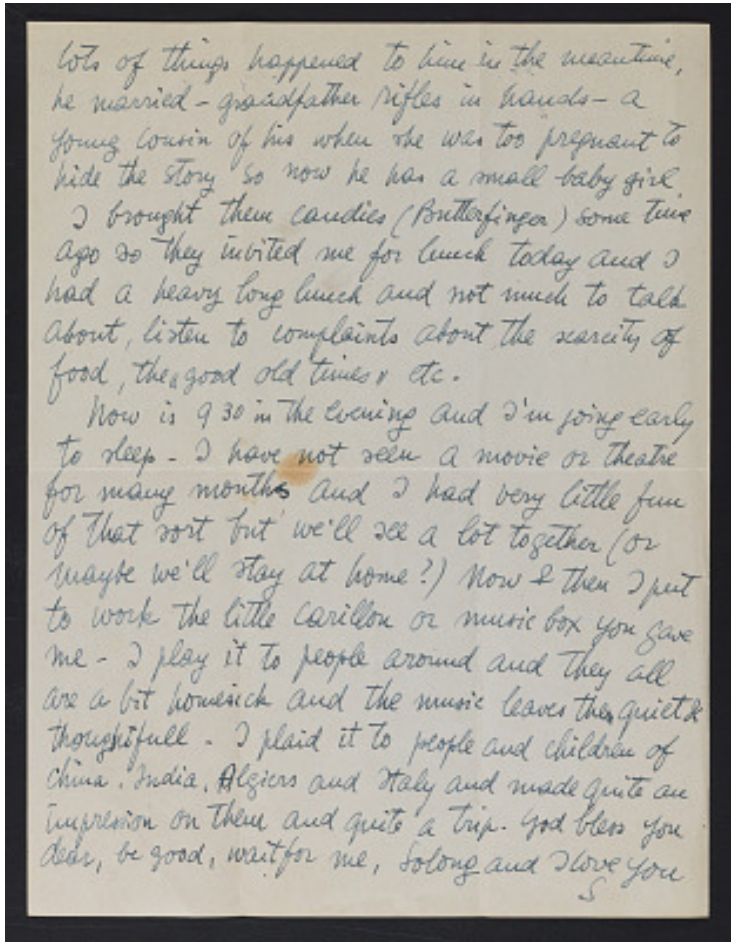

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Archives of American Art as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Archives of American Art website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Archives of American Art or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Archives of American Art. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

lots of things happened to him in the meantime, he married - Grandfather rifles in hands - a Young cousin of his when she was too pregnant to hide the story So now he has a small baby girl.

I brought them candies (Butterfinger) some time ago so they invited me for lunch today and I had a heavy long lunch and not much to talk about, listen to complaints about the scarcity of food, the "good old times" etc.

Now is 9 30 in the evening and I'm going early to sleep. I have not seen a movie or theatre for many months and I had very little fun of That sort but we'll all a lot together (or maybe we'll stay at home?) Now & then I put to work the little carillon or music box you gave me - I play it to people around and they all are a bit homesick and the music leaves then quiet & thoughtfull. I plaid it to people and children of China, India, Algiers and Italy and made quite an impression on them and quite a trip. God bless you - dear, be good, wait for me, solong and love you S

Celebrating 175: Correspondence, Steinberg, Saul, 1944 July-September
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Mar-29-2024 10:15:29

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities.Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!
The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter
On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian
Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian
On Twitter: @smithsonian