

Smithsonian Institution

Archives of American Art

Celebrating 175: Artist File, Bluemner, Oscar, 1919 , 1945, 1956-1971

Extracted on Dec-08-2022 04:41:46

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Archives of American Art as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Archives of American Art website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Archives of American Art or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Archives of American Art. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

Biography

Born in 1867 in Hanover, Germany, the son of an architect. He had his first exhibition at the age of 18 - a group of portraits shown in Berlin in 1892 he came to America where he became a successful architect - so successful that, in 1912, he was able to 'retire' and spend a year in Germany, exhibiting again and continuing his art studies. Returning to America in 1913 he showed a painting in the Armory and, two years later, Alfred Stieglitz gave him a one-man show at '291'. He exhibited there regularly from 1915 to 1928 and during the same period he was also shown at the Bourgeois and Neumann Galleries. In 1926 he moved to South Braintree, Mass. where he lived until his death in 1938.

Exhibitions

1913 New York, Armory Show, one painting.
1915 New York, Alfred Stieglitz, one-man show.
1916 New York, American Anderson Galleries, Forum Group.
1917 New York, Bourgeois Gallery, exhibited 1917-1923.
1924 New York, Neumann Gallery, exhibited 1924-1926.
1929 New York, Whitney Studio Galleries, one-man show.
1935 New York, Marie Harriman Gallery, one-man show.
1939 Minneapolis, Minneapolis University Gallery, Retrospective show
1946 New York, Whitney Museum, Pioneers of Modern Art in Amer three paintings.
1956 New York, Whitney Museum, Juliana Force Exhibition, one painting.

Collections

Whitney Museum of American Art, (three paintings)
Museum of Modern Art, New York,
Pennsylvania Museum of Art,
Mr. Duncan Phillips, Mr. Adolph Lewisohn, Mr. Segan Bourgeois, et al.

Celebrating 175: Artist File, Bluemner, Oscar, 1919 , 1945, 1956-1971
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Dec-08-2022 04:41:46

Smithsonian Institution

Archives of American Art

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian