Greetings to you!

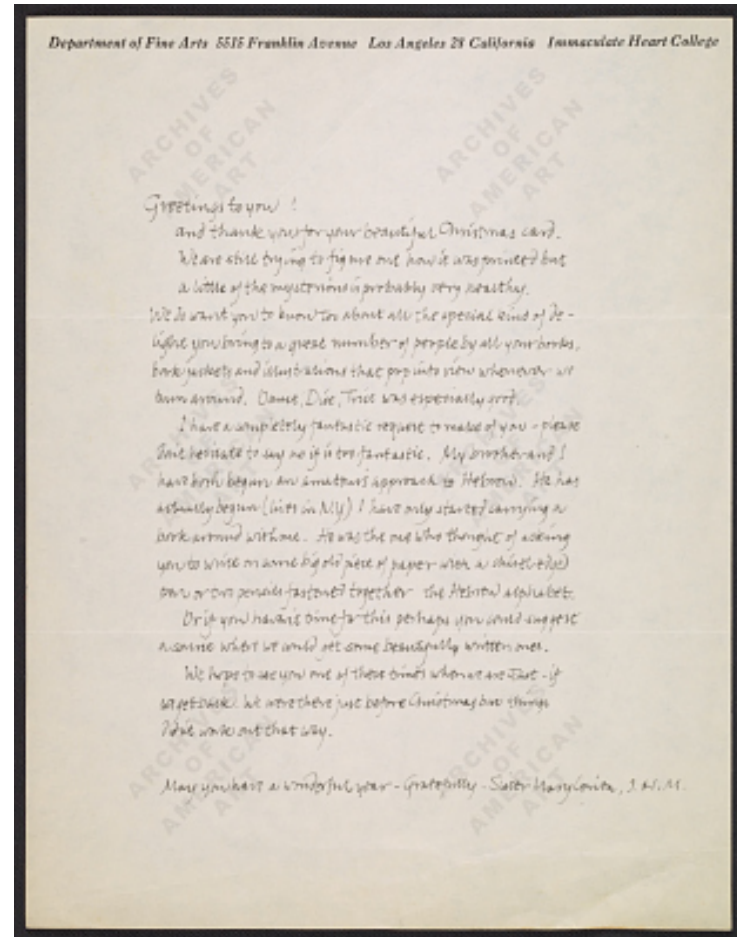

and thank you for your beautiful Christmas card. We are still trying to figure out how it was printed but a little of the mysterious is probably very healthy.

We do want you to know too about all the special kind of delight you bring to a great number of people by all your books, book jackets and illustrations that pop into view whenever we turn around. Ounce, Dice, Trice was especially good.

I have a completely fantastic request to make of you - please don't hesitate to say no if it is too fantastic. My brother and I have both begun an amateur's approach to Hebrew. He has actually begun (lives in N.Y.) I have only started carrying a book around with me. He was the one who thought of asking you to write on some big old piece of paper with a chisel edged pen or two pencils fastened together the Hebrew alphabet. Or if you haven't time for this perhaps you could suggest a source where we could get some beautifully written ones.

We hope to see you one of these times when we are East - if we get back. We were there just before Christmas but things didn't work out that way.

May you have a wonderful year - Gratefully, Sister Mary Corita, I.H.M.

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
