Smithsonian Institution
Archives of American Gardens

Burpee Seed Contest, 1924 - Box 271, Folder 4

Extracted on Mar-28-2024 11:17:53

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

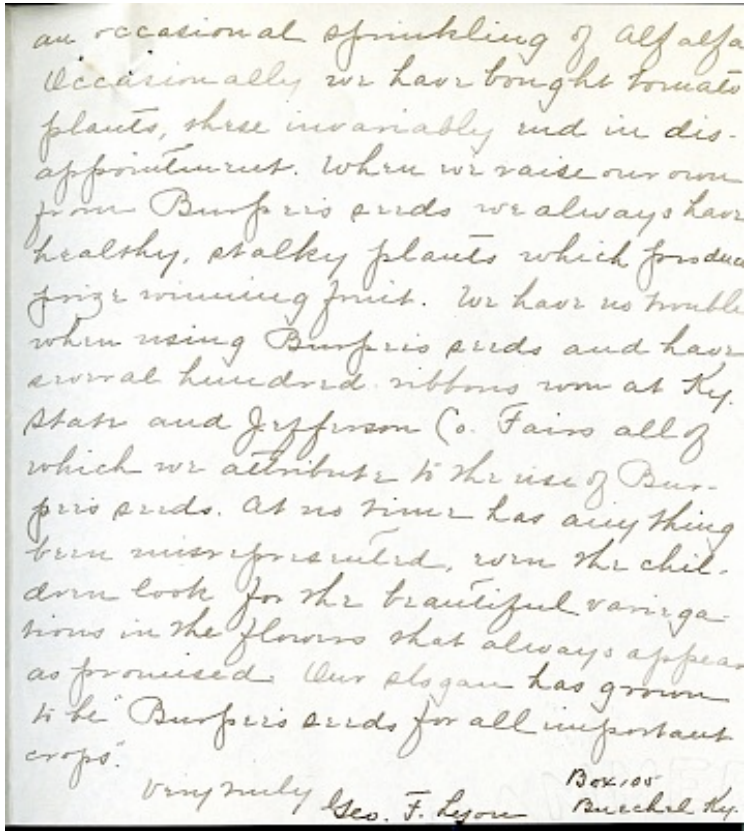

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Archives of American Gardens as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Archives of American Gardens website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Archives of American Gardens or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Archives of American Gardens. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

an occasional sprinkling of Alfalfa Occasionally we have bought tomato plants, these invariably end in disappointment. When we raise our own from Burpee's seeds we always have healthy, stalky plants which produce prize winning fruit. We have no trouble when using Burpee's seeds and have several hundred ribbons won at Ky. State and Jefferson Co. Fairs all of which we attribute to the use of Burpee's seeds. At no time has anything been misrepresented. even the children look for the beautiful variegations in the flowers that always appear as promised. Our slogan has grown to be "Burpee's seeds for all important crops."

Very truly
Geo. F. Lyon Box 105 Buechel Ky.

Burpee Seed Contest, 1924 - Box 271, Folder 4
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Approved by Smithsonian Staff
Extracted Mar-28-2024 11:17:53

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities.Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!
The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter
On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian
Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu
On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian
On Twitter: @smithsonian