Dear Helen & Ernest -

I am back from Canada now - and wonder how you both are - The summer for me was quite wonderful until Sep 19th - when the two superb sons of the family with whom I live were drowned - I have been numb and speechless since that time. I wonder if you would be good enough to send the Kidder painting to me at once by Parcel Post registered - as I would like to show it and it may be placed awhile and thereby give tribute with fine ambition of Kidder. I did [[?]] able painting myself of course & am preparing material for a book on painting and painters. A splendid piece of publicity came to me in the Nation of last Saturday written by Marianne Moore in her review of the new Caravan book

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.
