

Smithsonian Institution

Archives Center - NMAH

Leo Baekeland Diary Volume 41, 1925

Extracted on Mar-28-2024 09:37:27

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Archives Center - NMAH as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Archives Center - NMAH website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Archives Center - NMAH or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Archives Center - NMAH. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

10

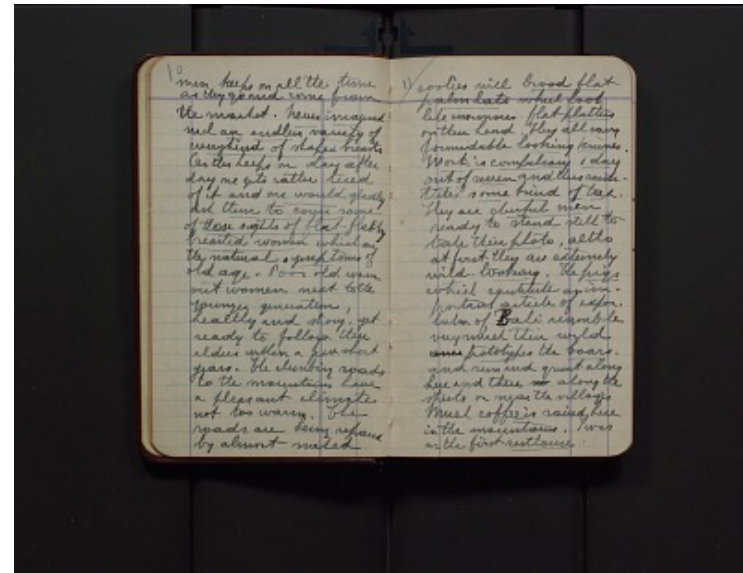

men, keeps on all the time as they go and come from the market. Never imagined such an endless variety of every kind of shaped breasts. As this keeps on day after day one gets rather tired of it and one would gladly ask them to cover some of those sights of flat flabby breasted women which are the natural symptoms of old age. Poor old worn out women next to the younger generation, healthy and strong, yet ready to follow their elders within a few short years. The climbing roads to the mountains have a pleasant climate not too warm. The roads are being repaired by almost naked coolies with broad flat palm hats which look like enormous flat platters on their head. They all carry formidable looking knives. Work is compulsory 1 day out of seven and this constitutes some kind of tax. They are cheerful men ready to stand still to take their photo, altho at first they are extremely wild-looking. The pigs which constitute an important article of exportation of Bali resemble very much their wild ~~amer~~ prototypes the boars, and run and grunt along here and there ~~ne~~ along the streets or near the villages

[[end page]]
[[start page]]

11

Much coffee is raised here in the mountains. I was as the first resthouse

Leo Baekeland Diary Volume 41, 1925
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Mar-28-2024 09:37:27

Smithsonian Institution

Archives Center - NMAH

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian