1933
Dec. 25, 1933 Xmas.

Bright pleasant weather not too cold. Nina arrived here with her children about 10 A.M. Peter seems over his troubles and smiling and full of interest in his toys and other Xmas presents around the Xmas tree in the parlor. Same enthusiasm from the other children. The two boys arrived here in blue cowboy-overalls and large gray felt cowboy-hats of the "five gallon type". They left about eleven for Xmas dinner at their home. Nina has arranged that George Roll ~~and in~~ should be there also, notwithstanding her recent divorce; Celine says she did it as a concession of good feeling and sympathy.

At the Radio heard ~~a~~ clear speech of King George of England addressed to all England and her dominions of the British Empire. First London, then Wales, then Scotland, Ireland, Bermuda, Canada New Zealand, Australia, India and finally India addressing South Africa. Each locality describing festivities occurring around them.

Who would ever have thought this possible a few years ago? Studied the typewritten sheets of 2 trust deeds: one in favor of Celine, ~~one~~ 5000 shares of Bakelite Common
