Dear Mr. Brumbaugh:

I am quite certain that the painting you describe in your letter was painted by me. However, I would like to see a photograph of it in order to authenticate it.

In the middle of the 1930's I did several paintings of people in cafeterias. The one, you mention, was painted around 1936.

I do not recall who bought it or through what gallery it was sold. My wife was the model for the woman putting on lipstick and my father-in-law
