

Smithsonian Institution

Anacostia Community Museum Archives

United Negro College Fund Scrapbook, 1955

Extracted on Oct-18-2021 10:20:27

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Anacostia Community Museum Archives as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Anacostia Community Museum Archives website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Anacostia Community Museum Archives or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Anacostia Community Museum Archives. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

[[image]] 4 men and 2 women sitting at a table all facing one direction with a microphone in front of them. [[/image]]

L. - R. Edwin R. Embree, Miss Margaret Mead, Dr. Peter Marshall Murray, Gen. George C. Marshall, Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton, Brooks Emeny, Ira De A. Reid

america's stake in the educated negro a symposium

Mildred McAfee Horton,
Chairman

-Speakers
General George C. Marshall
The International Significance of Negro Progress

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays
The Negro College Graduate in America

-panel
Edwin Embree
Brooks Emeny
Margaret Mead
Ira DeA. Reid
Channing Tobias

hunter college assembly hall
69th street and park avenue
tuesday, november 29, 1949
8:30 p.m.

[[end page]][[start page]]

This was the first Symposium. It was designed to "send" New York. At the time, the biggest name in the United States was General George C. Marshall, who had recently resigned as Secretary of State after successfully launching the Marshall Plan. Ambitious plans were under way to approach the great man through "channels" when "Pat" came into Headquarters one day. Someone casually mentioned to him that the Committee was trying to get the General as the principal speaker for this first big undertaking. "Pat" just as casually said, "I know him and I'd be happy to ask him to do it, if you'd like me to."

P. S. General Marshall said in his speech, "I think I should explain in the introduction to my remarks this evening my reasons for accepting this invitation. Since my retirement I have endeavored to avoid occasions requiring me to make public addresses and the only exceptions have been when I was duty bound to speak in accepting some generous or complimentary award. Therefore, I would have declined the invitation for this evening, but for two very special reasons I decided to accept....The invitation was delivered to me by Dr. Patterson, the head of Tuskegee Institute. During the war years I was brought into frequent contact with Dr. Patterson and formed a very high regard for him. What was more important, he was of great assistance to me in meeting many of the complications involved in raising our great war Army. He was wise and objective, unselfish and courageous, and I felt when he called on me to speak tonight that I owed him my acceptance."

United Negro College Fund Scrapbook, 1955
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Oct-18-2021 10:20:27

Smithsonian Institution

Anacostia Community Museum Archives

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian