

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of African American History and Culture

What the Graduates of Lincoln Institute are Doing, 1906

Extracted on Apr-24-2024 06:30:32

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the National Museum of African American History and Culture as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the National Museum of African American History and Culture website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact National Museum of African American History and Culture or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the National Museum of African American History and Culture. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

ceeded some of the best school men in that section, and for him to measure up to the standard means much.

He has been elected to teach in the public schools of Houston, Texas, but preferred to stay where he is and complete some plans already begun in Sherman.

During the fifteen years he has taught in Texas Mr. Williams has taught in approved summer normals, six years of which he was conductor. These conductors are appointed by the State Superintendent of Public instruction. To be thus chosen indicates the rank of a teacher in Texas.

Mr. Williams has been honored by his fellow teachers with the position of vice-president of the State Teachers' Association, superintendent of Principals' Division, and president of the North Texas Teachers' Association.

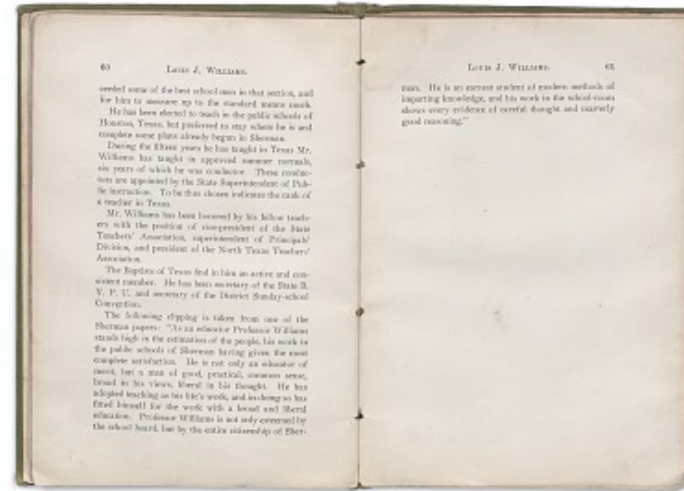

The Baptists of Texas find in him an active and consistent member. He has been secretary of the State B.Y.P.U. and secretary of the District Sunday-school Convention.

The following clipping is taken from one of the Sherman papers: "As an educator Professor Williams stands high in the estimation of the people, his work in the public schools of Sherman having given the most complete satisfaction. He is not only an educator of merit, but a man of good, practical, common sense, broad in his views, liberal in his thought. He has adopted teaching as his life's work, and in doing so has fitted himself for the work with a broad and liberal education. Professor Williams is not only esteemed by the school board, but by the entire citizenship of Sherman. He is an earnest student of modern methods of imparting knowledge, and his work in the school-room shows every evidence of careful thought and masterly good reasoning."

[[end page]]

[[start page]]

What the Graduates of Lincoln Institute are Doing, 1906
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Apr-24-2024 06:30:32

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of African American History and Culture

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian