

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of African American History and Culture

What the Graduates of Lincoln Institute are Doing, 1906

Extracted on Apr-17-2024 10:45:51

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the National Museum of African American History and Culture as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the National Museum of African American History and Culture website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact National Museum of African American History and Culture or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the National Museum of African American History and Culture. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

76 MISS NELLIE L. POAGE.

gence, information, intellectual power, poise, tact, courage and industry that is sufficient to insure her success in any work in which she may engage.

B.F. Bowles.

November 6, 1905.

[[end page]]

[[start page]]

77

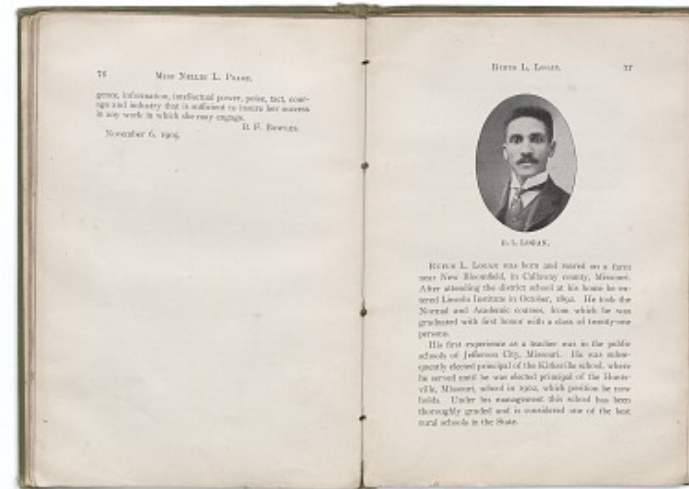

RUFUS L. LOGAN.

[[image - black & white photograph of Rufus L. Logan]]

[[caption]] R. L. LOGAN. [[/caption]]

RUFUS L. LOGAN was born and reared on a farm near New Bloomfield, in Callaway county, Missouri. After attending the district school at his home he entered Lincoln Institute in October, 1892. He took the Normal and Academic courses, from which he was graduated with first honor with a class of twenty-one persons.

His first experience as a teacher was in the public schools of Jefferson City, Missouri. He was subsequently elected principal of the Kirksville school, where he served until he was elected principal of the Huntsville, Missouri, school in 1902, which position he now holds. Under his management this school has been thoroughly graded and is considered one of the best rural schools in the State.

What the Graduates of Lincoln Institute are Doing, 1906
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Apr-17-2024 10:45:51

Smithsonian Institution

National Museum of African American History and Culture

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian