

Smithsonian Institution

Anacostia Community Museum Archives

Birney School Life Newsletter, Undated

Extracted on Apr-19-2024 06:53:45

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution (the "Smithsonian") provides the content on this website (transcription.si.edu), other Smithsonian websites, and third-party sites on which it maintains a presence ("SI Websites") in support of its mission for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge." The Smithsonian invites visitors to use its online content for personal, educational and other non-commercial purposes. By using this website, you accept and agree to abide by the following terms.

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Anacostia Community Museum Archives as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Anacostia Community Museum Archives website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Anacostia Community Museum Archives or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Anacostia Community Museum Archives. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

[[image]] black and white hand drawing of three children looking at a poster with VISUAL AIDS at the top [[/image]]

Audio-Visual Education

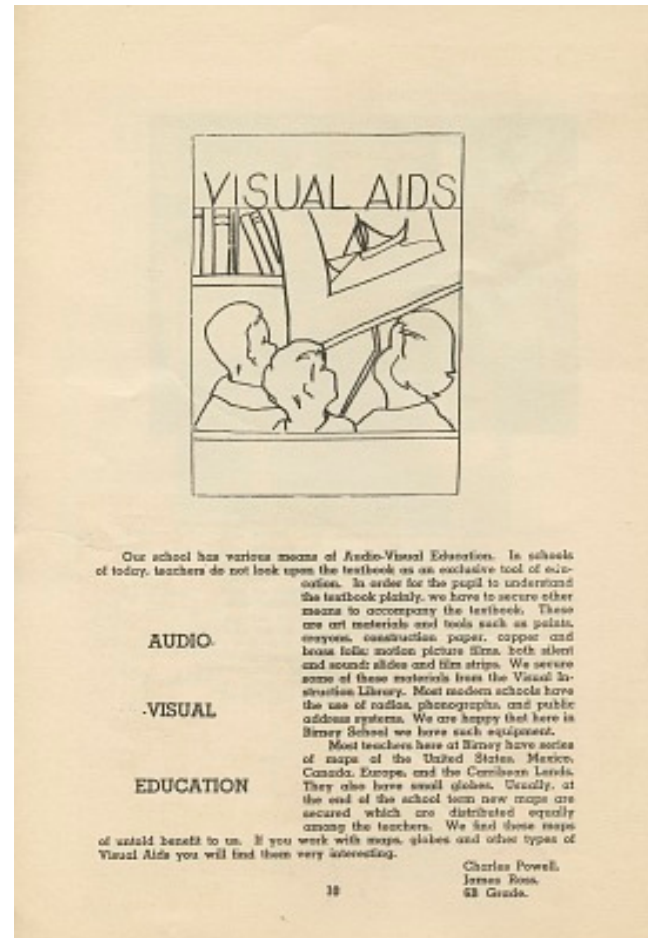

Our school has various means of Audio-Visual Education. In schools of today, teachers do not look upon the textbook as an exclusive tool of education.

AUDIO VISUAL EDUCATION [[set on the left hand side with rest of paragraph on right hand side]]

In order for the pupil to understand the textbook plainly, we have to secure other means to accompany the textbook. These are art materials and tools such as paints, crayons, construction paper, copper and brass foils; motion picture films, both silent and sound; slides and film strips. We secure some of these materials from the Visual Instruction Library. Most modern schools have the use of radios, phonographs, and public address systems. We are happy that here in Birney School we have such equipment. Most teachers here at Birney have series of maps of the United States, Mexico, Canada, Europe, and the Carribean Lands. They also have small globes. Usually, at the end of the school term new maps are secured which are distributed equally among the teachers. We find these maps of untold benefit to us. If you work with maps, globes and other types of Visual Aids you will find them very interesting.

Charles Powell,
James Ross,
6B Grade.

10

Birney School Life Newsletter, Undated
Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers
Extracted Apr-19-2024 06:53:45

Smithsonian Institution

Anacostia Community Museum Archives

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities. Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us!

The Transcription Center: <https://transcription.si.edu>

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter>

On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian

Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu

On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian>

On Twitter: @smithsonian